In spite of the physicians verdict that the woman came to her death by drowning, many people still hold to the opinion that she was murdered.

To substantiate this, there is nothing but the testimony of Mrs. Oscar Lear, who said she overheard the conversation between Fred Altz and Edward alien regarding their quarrel with some unknown woman.

Altz flattly contradicts this, and tells a very straight story of his whereabouts on Frida. The animus of Levine's charges is that inginity due to decomposition, with the exception of the bruise under the left arm. That it is thought, was caused by striking the boat which was tied to the wharf in her fall.
